Winter or spring break?

Dialogue may have scheduled spring break for the Weather Bureau would be more likely to question as "winter break".

Due to weather conditions and considerations of the date, spring break will remain as originally planned Monday and Tuesday, April 5 and 6, to J. Elliot Cameron, dean of students, will resume on Wednesday, April 7.

A session will be held at the same time as April sessions of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Salt Lake City. General Sessions of conference will be April 3, 4, and 6.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy weather, with temperatures at 45-50. The probability of a snow today is 10 per cent, with highs in the mid-20's.

Today's forecast dictates little change in plans, with weather increasing to cloudy by tonight.

Spring break will remain as scheduled even though winter dumped another bucket of snow on campus yesterday.

Force attacks Laos outpost, stops drive

SAIGON (UPI) — Tanks and infantry in a North Vietnamese force of 12,000 men attacked a South Vietnamese outpost in Laos yesterday and stopped a drive on a huge supply dump astride the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The outpost stood fast with strong U.S. Air support which knocked out seven tanks.

A major battle appeared to be shaping up.

The focus of action in Laos yesterday was Fire Support Base Lolo, an outpost nine miles east of the Ho Chi Minh Trail center of Sepone. Brig. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of South Vietnam's 1st Infantry Division, said communist pressure on Lolo and other points had blocked his troops trying to reach a big North Vietnamese ammunition dump and a fuel pipeline.

Phu said South Vietnamese defenders of Lolo fought a series of clashes with North Vietnamese forces throughout yesterday in the area, including one two-hour battle at the base perimeter before the communists were beaten back.

No sell-out, no television

An NCAA play-off ruling will block TV coverage of Thursday's BYU-UCLA game if the contest is not sold out, according to Dave Dredge of the BYU ticket office.

Approximately one-half of the 6,000 tickets at BYU have been sold for Thursday and Saturday's games, said Dredge, but tickets will only be on sale until 5 p.m. today.

BYU plays both Thursday and Saturday regardless of the outcome of Thursday's game against the Bruins.

Any tickets not sold today will be returned to the University of Utah to be sold there.

If the games are not sold out by 5 p.m. Wednesday there will be no television coverage.

Tickets go on sale today at 7 a.m. in the Fieldhouse ticket office in singles, doubles or groups, according to Dredge.

Dredge reminded that the tickets must be purchased today or tickets will only be available in Salt Lake City.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson's resignation as the administrative head of this institution has been the occasion for recalling past compliments on his abilities and the development of BYU. His resignation also has brought forth new tributes. Both old and new tributes from Church and political leaders and editorial commentators are hereby reproduced.

From Church Leaders:

President David O. McKay (when he became President of the Church):

President Wilkinson has shown a greater vision for BYU than anyone I have known. He has my unqualified support.

President Stephen L. Richards (to Presidents McKay and Clark):

I think there is no use for us to argue with President Wilkinson on this point. We will give it to him in the long run anyway.

President J. Reuben Clark, Jr.:

a). Aside to Keifer Smith, the Secretary to the Board at the time, as President Wilkinson was making one of his original presentations:

It is thrilling to see how a well-trained and disciplined mind works.

b). Isaac Stewart once asked him why it was President Wilkinson got nearly everything he asked for from the Board of Trustees. President Clark replied:

When he comes into our meetings he is so well prepared that he presents matters as though he were presenting them to the Supreme Court, and we don't have any answer for his arguments.

c). After President Wilkinson returned to his duties from a severe heart attack in 1956 and for a while it was feared he might not be able to carry a full load, which fear has since vanished:

I would rather have half the time of President Wilkinson than the full time of anyone else I know.

Elder Boyd K. Packer, member of the Council of the Twelve:

The job of the Search Committee in finding a new president for BYU is to find another Ernest Wilkinson.

President Hugh B. Brown (in a letter to President Wilkinson dated May 12, 1970):

I have just read in the Universe your statement regarding riots and disturbances on campuses, and congratulate you on this stand and your exceptional ability to put things in such forceful language which is so easily understood and is always so totally unambiguous.

Elder Adam S. Benson:

It is rare that we ever find a person with the combined competency of President Wilkinson. He has the educational vision and dedication of Karl G. Maeser and the administrative ability of Abraham O. Smoot.

From Political and National Leaders:

President Richard M. Nixon:

Brigham Young University has established an enviable record indeed. While I am sure that you are proud of your university, I feel equally certain that the Brigham Young community is very proud of you.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew (in letter dated October 19, 1970):

It is very gratifying to know that there are college administrators with your courage and determination. The students at Brigham Young are fine examples of what college students should be.

The Honorable Frank E. Moss (whom President Wilkinson ran against for U.S. Senate):

Having just learned of your resignation as President of Brigham Young University I wanted to send you this word of commendation for a job well done. You have built Brigham Young into a great institution of which all of us are very proud. . . . Our differences in political point of view have never blinded me to your great service and accomplishments for our Church.

Paul Harvey (in his Commencement Address in 1970):

At BYU we do not learn by trial and error; we are taught by precept and example. We have a president I like to characterize as an academic George E. Patton, unafraid to let it like it is.

General Stanley R. Larsen, Commanding General, Sixth United States Army:

If replicas of B.Y.U. and President Wilkinson could be located all over the nation, nothing would be better for the future of our country.

Local Editorial Comment:

Dan Valentine (Salt Lake Tribune, March 10, 1971):

I will make this prediction now: With Dr. Ernest Wilkinson leading the way, Brigham Young University will eventually have the finest law school in the United States.

SALT LAKE TRIBUNE editorial (March 10, 1971):

Such expansion is not a simple evolutionary matter. It derives from exacting decisions on an infinite array of ingredients ranging from faculty additions to building construction to course material. At BYU, a church-guided institution, it meant maintaining the importance of a religious influence as well.

That BYU has so far successfully met such challenges reflects the considerable energy, talent, foresight and personal leadership devoted to the task by Dr. Wilkinson. His tenure may be something of a record for positions in similar circumstances, which further attests to his unswerving fortitude.

DESERET NEWS editorial (March 10, 1971):

Hard work and big challenge for more than half a century have characterized the life style of this remarkable man. As he closes out the second of two illustrious careers, it is inconceivable that there would be no new challenge ahead. There will be. Building from the ground up an entire new college of law, including building, faculty, and library, will take imagination, courage, drive and hard work. If any Utah epitomizes those qualities it is Ernest Wilkinson.

Provo DAILY HERALD editorial (March 10, 1971):

He has spoken out fearlessly for law and order on the campuses, and has never failed to point with pride to the fact that the BYU campus has been free of violence of any kind.

Without doubt Ernest L. Wilkinson has assured himself of a significant place in BYU's history. Establishment of a College of Law will add extra luster.

Many labels will be given this energetic man by the BYU history writers. But perhaps none will be more appropriate than that of "University Builder." This one can go down in bold letters.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GRADUATE NEWS

Editor:

I thought you might be interested in the activities of an alumnus of your institution: Steve Glenn. Mr. Glenn has become a leading figure in drug education and family development programs throughout the State of Indiana.

So far this year he has published four papers on drug education, one on music education, and has produced a film and several videotapes for educational television. He is presently an instructional assistant to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Consultant on Drug Education to the Indianapolis School System, and was recently named Consultant and Community Project Developer for the Indiana University Division of Continuing Education.

In addition to these activities Mr. Glenn has participated in the development of more than 30 programs throughout the state and is currently preparing two correspondence courses to be offered by Indiana University.

Mr. Glenn graduated from BYU in 1958 and is currently writing a Masters thesis in the BYU Dept. of Geography. He recently finished coursework for the Ph.D. at Indiana University where he holds a National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship in Social Science.

Mr. Glenn served in the bishopric of the BYU 33rd Ward before moving to Indiana where his wife Patricia and daughters Ken and Kristi are awaiting the arrival of a son.

TEAM GAME

Gentlemen of the Sports Staff:

With all due respect to Kreamer Cosic, who is an excellent basketball player, we must take exception to your March 12 article which stated, "Jeff Tebbe is to Utah State what Kreamer Cosic is to BYU—everything."

The beauty of this year's team has been the teamwork. A 100 per cent shooting night is certainly thrilling, and deserves acclaim, but it doesn't make the whole game or the whole year. The fine efforts of the other members together with Cosic's made a winning year.

Your March 11 article cited Cosic and Kelly for WAC recognition, but you failed to mention Kelly's name once—just Cosic. The gross oversight, however, was in not mentioning Bernie Fryer for WAC recognition. And Jim Miller so soon to be forgotten? He's fantastic—probably our most consistent player and the finest defensive player in the league. And what about our great depth? Having the first string forward not playing is shaky when you've got the backup men we do. It's the entire team who has made this season what it is—its spirit, desire, and great skill. No one individual can carry it off. Each man contributes to the team all he can, with each being an outstanding player with his own specialty. But the key is in pulling it all together to come up with the fine championship team we have. Not the fine Cosic or Kelly or Tebbe, but the fine team we have.

EARTH WEEK

Editor:

With the participation of persons throughout the Earth Day last April, environmental groups, school students to die.

Since then, the National Conference has unanimously resolved to recommend that Governors issue a declaration of the month of Earth Week in the spring.

The national organizations have their support of Earth Week written all the Governor's proclamations. Many state and local governments are contacting their Governors.

Also, 52 U.S. Senate parties have already introduced the Earth Week resolution in the Senate.

Our objective in setting Earth Week is to provide each year for state and nationwide to focus for a week on the accomplishments of our people to plan for the future.

In particular, an effort is being made to affect an opportunity for high schools to tie environmental education each year. With the Environmental Education Act could make a great contribution to the awareness not only of the people but of the parents.

I especially hope to see opportunity to alter Earth Week project.

TURN

Editor:

Being a UCLA Bruins fan, I want to hear the words "Bruins" mentioned in the basketball championship. I have enjoyed the Bruins basketball (the Bruins) short years now, always will, even the 18 record was a disappointment and I have lost of the Cougars' defense and a team defense.

I would like to see Cosic, Kelly, Tebbe, and the Bruins of UCLA. It will end in a Championship for the Bruins.

This Thursday night I will ever be a Bruins of UCLA. Everyone else will be a Bruins.

Demands Israeli withdrawal

'Egypt will not back down'

By UPI

President Anwar Sadat said Monday Egypt will not back down on demands for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from every inch of occupied Arab territory, regardless of the consequences. Cairo newspapers said the Egyptians were prepared for all eventualities, including war.

Sadat's pledge was reported by Cairo Radio as Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban suggested Egyptian and Israeli representatives meet face-to-face to discuss ways of resolving the Middle East crisis.

The indirect U.N.-supervised talks in New York have bogged down over Israel's refusal to agree to complete withdrawal from Arab territories captured in the 1967 war as a precondition for peace negotiations.

The Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar, commenting on the continued quiet along the Suez Canal since the expiration of the cease fire on March 7, said "If the Egyptian armed forces have not opened fire yet, it does not mean they are not prepared—the army is ready to resume firing at any time."

Eban flew into London during the day on the first leg of a diplomatic mission which will also take him to the United Nations in New York and to Washington, D.C. for talks with Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Eban told newsmen before departure from Tel Aviv that he would urge U.N. officials to get concrete peace talks, without preconditions, going at a neutral site outside the United States. A U.N. spokesman said Eban would meet with Middle East mediator Gunnar V. Jarring on Thursday.

China visits ok

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, seeking to resume ambassadorial talks with the Communist Chinese in Warsaw, announced yesterday it is lifting restrictions on American citizens who want to travel to Mainland China.

State Department spokesman, Charles Bray said in announcing the action that it was one of many steps by the administration to improve relations with the Peking government.

Bray also disclosed that the United States has informed Peking, through private channels, that the Nixon administration wants to resume the Sino-American talks that the Chinese broke off in Moscow last year.

As for proposed resumption of the Warsaw talks, Bray said "we have had no response" from Peking.

The last official talks between representatives of the two governments in Warsaw occurred Feb. 20, 1970. The Chinese Communists broke off further talks scheduled May 20 of last year, in protest of the U.S. military incursion into Cambodia, and there have been no further meetings.

Other terrorists armed with submachine guns robbed a bank outside Istanbul of $666 in actions similar to other robberies by left-wing groups to finance their operations.

Nixons and Cox's parents, Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox, have been invited to the gala gathering.

Dr. Edward G. Latch, the House chaplain, will officiate at the wedding.

Correction

In an article on the Utah State Legislature, printed in Monday's Daily Universe on page one, Ted M. Davis was inadvertently not included in the list of legislators. He is presently serving as a representative from District 42, south Provo. Davis is a member of the BYU Administrative Staff.

Tricia Nixon to be married in White House ceremonies

KEY BISCAYNE, FLA. (UPI) — Tricia Nixon and Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox will be married in the White House on June 5, it was learned yesterday. The President's 25-year-old daughter originally had planned her wedding for June 12, but moved it up after spending the weekend with Cox and his sociolite family in New York.

The formal announcement will be made today by President and Mrs. Nixon.

The Nixons are planning a joint celebration of the First Lady's 59th birthday and the engagement at an "Irish evening at the White House" program Tuesday evening. Informal sources said the announcement would be made either in the afternoon or evening. Close relatives and friends of the ## Support given to Turkey's military; New government 'will crush terrorism'

ANKARA (UPI) — President Cevdet Sındıgı threw his support today to Turkey's military leaders and said a new government would crush terrorism. But terrorists pistol-whipped an American in Ankara and exploded bombs in front of the U.S. consulate in Istanbul.

Sındıgı, in a nationwide broadcast, announced his support for the military leaders who forced the resignation of Premier Süleyman Demirel's government and said, "A new era has opened in Turkey. I call on all citizens, students, workers and politicians to come together."

Police said two right-wing Turkish students, brandishing guns, burst into a bookstore run by the World Council of Churches, shouted they would not allow Christian propaganda to be distributed in Moslem Turkey, and attacked Paul Herman, the American shopkeeper and the president of the council's Bible house.

Police said the youths, who beat Herman on the head with pistols, slightly injuring him, were arrested.

DILEAS CHALEAN

Have you ever given a campus tour to 9,786 first-graders who were interested only in the vending machines? Have you ever had to get up at 3:00 A.M. to sing valentines to handsome young men? Have you ever manned a voting booth in student elections?

If you haven't done any of these things, you've missed out on part of the fun that is Dileas Chalean.

D.C.'s is an organization that gives service with a smile. D.C.'s usher at campus concerts, count heads at Forum and Devotional, sit at BYU's Information booth as well as the activities mentioned above.

But that's not all there is to D.C.'s. Weekly meetings feature such things as listening to BYU's Most Preferred Man give his thoughts on girls, hosting scavenger hunts and old movies. In other words, just having fun. Firesides and unusual exchanges with other clubs are part of D.C.'s, too.

This week's meeting will feature making flowers from bread. All co-eds are invited to attend the pledge meeting at 5:45 p.m., Wednesday, Room 349, ELWC.

For more information, call Molly Bybee, 374-5665.

LA JEUNESSE

La Jeunesse is a special campus social unit of approximately 50 girls. Originally formed as a sister group to Young Men, its name is French for "the young woman."

La Jeunesse gives members opportunities to widen interests and develop friendships through numerous social, cultural and spiritual activities.

Ask

me!

Q. During the Red Cross blood drive, I was told that the blood I was donating could be used as credit to get blood if I ever needed it. This year our baby was hospitalized and needed a blood transfusion, but Utah Valley Hospital informed us that they would not accept blood given to the Red Cross as credit against that transfusion. I would like to know why not.

A: Blood given to the Red Cross entitles the donor to free blood from any hospital participating in the Red Cross blood program. Utah Valley Hospital does not participate. However, out-of-state residents can benefit from previous Red Cross donations by filling the proper forms obtained at the non-participating hospital.

Q: Why doesn't the Bookstore carry some of the most well-known national periodicals and newspapers, like the Wall Street Journal?

A: The Bookstore did at one time carry the Wall Street Journal, but it did not sell. However, any student who would like a subscription to any national newspaper or periodical can order it through the Bookstore. Also, many newspapers are available in the newspaper reading area on the third level of the library and in the Memorial Hall of the Wilkinson Center.

Q: Would it be possible for people holding meal tickets for Cannon Center and Morris Center to eat in each other's cafeterias?

A: That service has not been instituted because it would be more costly than the present system.

Q: My wife and I went down to the P.E. Building to play basketball the other evening. My wife requested a blue gym suit since the blue ones are more modest than the white ones, which are nearly see-through. However, she was told that the blue suits are held in reserve for intramural activities, and since she was not participating in intramurals, she would have to take a white one. She explained that she would be playing basketball with her husband and some other friends, and that since there would be several boys around, she would like to be as modest as possible. Can't the standards of the Church apply in the Richards Building?

A: The policy of the Women's P.E. Department is to issue blue uniforms for co-ed activities such as this. However, the department is in the process of changing white uniforms over to blue, and there are not yet enough blue ones to be able to issue them at night and still have enough for use the next morning.

Q: Frequently during the 5 p.m. rush hour there are charter buses parked under the east canopy of the Wilkinson Center. Isn't there another place where they could park while waiting to load? It would surely relieve the congestion next to the Wilkinson Center.

A: Since most of these buses are chartered for temple trips to Manti, the presidents of the ten BYU stakes were contacted and requested to have their bishops arrange for the buses to come exactly at the departure time. The buses will then be there only for the length of time it takes to load the passengers. Since problems of this nature have frequently arisen, it has been recommended to the Traffic and Safety Committee by the Director of the Wilkinson Center that the twenty-minute parking zones under the canopy be eliminated.

NOTE: Students interested in working on the Ombudsman Staff as investigators are badly needed. Please Contact, Room 432, ELWC or call Ext. 4132.

Tutors give needed help

In November 1970, the ASBYU Executive Vice President's Office established the "ASBYU-Provo School Tutor-Friend Program" in conjunction with Provo City Schools. Since that time, about 170 BYU students have been assigned to work on a one-to-one basis with local students from Farrar Junior High, Dixon Junior High and Provo High Schools.

BYU students are asked to spend a minimum of two hours per week with their student.

All students interested in working as a Tutor-Friend can fill out an application today or tomorrow in Room 438, ELWC.

More students are needed at the present time as the program is continually expanding. Male students who have transportation are especially needed, although all students are welcome.

Parking

The canopy area at the east entrance of the Wilkinson Center has been changed from 20-minute time zone parking to a three-minute parking and three-minute passenger loading and unloading area only. For short stays there are stalls across the street in the east parking lot designated for 45-minute parking.

Day-long conference

Language teaching seminar set

Three distinguished speakers from the Center for Curriculum Development, Inc., a foreign language publishing house, will appear tomorrow at a seminar on Language Teaching Methodology at BYU.

Guest speakers include: Charles A.S. Heinle, who founded the foreign-language publishing program of Chilton Book, which became a separate company known as the Center for Curriculum Development, Inc. (CCD); John Grimshaw Long, director of publications at CCD and a writer of French and Russian materials; and Charles H. Heinle, deputy director of professional services at CCD and teacher of French at the CCD Foreign Language Center.

The day-long conference, which is open to the public, will begin at 9 a.m. in the Little Theater (room 321) Wilkinson Center. It is sponsored by the French Department, with the cooperation of the German, Spanish and English as a second language departments. Chairman of the event is Dr. J. Dale Miller, associate professor of French.

The conference is designed to offer all engaged in teaching and learning a second language an unusual opportunity to become aware of the materials development, testing techniques, methods and research.

Charles A.S. Heinle will give the CCD orientation, and Mr. Long will speak on "English as a Second Language: Materials and Methods." Charles H. Heinle will discuss "Audio-Visual Courses, The Four Teaching Phases" and "CCD Tests, Foreign Language Skills, and Computerized Language Research."

A graduate of Temple University, Charles A.S. Heinle majored in literature and psychology and studied law as a graduate student. He has worked as a research writer for the novelist Irving Stone and worked for publishing companies in the fields of advertising and promotion.

Charles H. Heinle, received his B.A. from Temple University in English and linguistics and studied for two years at the American College in Paris and at the University of Besancon, France.

Mr. Long received the M.A. in French from the University of Wisconsin and is a Ph.D. candidate in philosophy at the University of Fribourg, Switzerland.

Class offered for fishermen in fly-tying, stream ecology

Fly-Tying and Stream Ecology classes begin Thursday, March 25, under the direction of the Dept. of Special Courses and Conferences.

Top professional fly fishermen in the Utah area will lead discussions on the Provo River and Strawberry Reservoir fishing areas while a fish and game biologist will lecture on stream ecology in local waters. He will explore, for example, fish feeding habits and the life cycle of the May fly.

Under the direction of Ken Dilworth, a fly fisherman with 12 years professional experience, participants will learn to tie flies and streamers, select quality rod and reel equipment and use the fly pole properly. Practical application of these techniques will be incorporated into a "field trip" to lower Provo or possibly a private stocked facility.

"The enrollment is very limited," says Dilworth, "so those interested should register early."

According to Richard Zimmerman, program coordinator, the vacancies are filling quickly. In a recent pilot study of the class run at Geneva, 18 people were turned away at the door.

BYU gymnasts prepare for WAC championship battle

BYU's gymnastics team, despite a 4-6 season record, are optimistic as they enter competition in the Western Athletic Conference gymnastics championships this weekend.

The WAC meet will be held in Salt Lake City March 18-20 and no one has been working harder for this one than LaVon Johnson's BYU squad.

The Cougars put a gallant effort against powerful New Mexico last week before bowing to the Lobos, 160-70-157-40. The UNM team is the defending WAC champion and is favored to successfully defend its title this year.

Johnson is encouraged by the fact that the Cougars show two of their wins this year in compulsory meets. Since the compulsory routines count one half of the total WAC championship points, the Cougars expect to gain ground in this department.

"I feel we can do well this week," Johnson said. "We had a good effort against New Mexico which has us optimistic for this championship meet. If we do as well in the compulsories as we are capable of doing, we should be right in the middle of things. Of course, New Mexico is going to be very tough to beat. They have a great team."

The Cougars got stellar performances from all-around men John Hughes, Werner Hoeger and Randy Greener and also from sidehorse specialist Darryl Miller last weekend against New Mexico and will count on more of the same from them this week in Salt Lake City.

Hughes won the All-Around competition against New Mexico with a total of 52.25 points. Hoeger and Greener had their best totals of the season with scores of 49.30 and 47.65 respectively.

Miller, the defending WAC sidehorse champ, won that event against New Mexico with a season's best of 9.4. He looms as the man to beat in the WAC again this year.

Although New Mexico's Lobos rate the favorite's role for this year's WAC championships, Coach Johnson's Cougars are at their peak now and are anxious to try their fortunes in the annual WAC tug of war.

BYU's Wayne Larson goes through his routine on the side horse during the BYU-New Mexico dual meet. The sidehorse is the most difficult event in gymnastics due to the various amounts of strength needed and also the compulsory routines that are imposed on the gymnasts. BYU's Darryl Miller is the defending Western Athletic Conference champion on the side horse and will, along with Larson, be relied on heavily by Coach LaVon Johnson in this year's WAC championship.

Austin Carr selected as Player of the Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Austin Carr of Notre Dame, a high-scoring guard whom the pro scouts compare favorably with Oscar Robertson, was named college basketball's Player of the Year for 1970-71 by United Press International.

Carr, the nation's second leading scorer this past season, was an easy winner in the balloting of 394 sports writers and sportscasters across the nation. He received 221 votes to easily beat out Sidney Wicks of UCLA, who finished second with 109.

As a result of this honor Carr yesterday received the third annual James A. Naismith Trophy, presented by the Atlanta Tipoff Club.

It was probably Carr's upstaging of Wicks in Notre Dame's memorable upset of UCLA last December that enabled him to defeat the UCLA star by such a wide margin. In that game Carr scored 46 points as the Irish beat the Bruins 89-82, before a national television audience.

Carr and Wicks were virtually the only two contenders for the Player of the Year honors. Johnny Neumann, Mississippi's sophomore sensation, was a distant third with 17 votes followed by John Roche of South Carolina with 12 and Dean Meminger of Marquette with 11.

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound Carr averaged 37.5 points per game this season, second only to Neumann's phenomenal 40.1 average. Called by one pro "the best clutch shooter in the game today" Carr was largely the man responsible for Notre Dame landing a berth in the NCAA tournament.

The Atlanta Tipoff Club, which presents the Naismith Trophy annually, will present the award to Carr at a dinner later this month. The two previous winners of the Naismith Trophy were Lew Alcindor of UCLA in 1968-69 and Pete Maravich of Louisiana State in 1969-70.

Ruggers win big

An intra-squad scrimmage—the Blue team beating the Gold team 33-3—opened the 1971 Cougar rugby season last weekend.

Steve Michaels scored 12 points, despite gusty winds, to lead the Blue squad. Other Cougars getting into the scoring column were Cal Johnson with nine points, Brian Andelin with six, and Normani Soskal and Matt Brown with three each.

The lone score for the Gold team came when Bobby Wilson converted a penalty kick midway through the second half.

The BYU ruggers will meet the Univ. of New Mexico Saturday at 2 p.m. on Haws Field.

Intramurals

An orientation meeting for those interested in officiating softball for the Intramural Department will be held today at 5 p.m. in room 106 RPE.

A written test will be administered and officials will be assigned to take a practical test which will include officiating a game on the opening night of softball competition. The practical—to be graded by three different persons—along with the written test, will be used as the basis for hiring.

If an official is playing for a team he will not be eligible to officiate if he is scheduled to play. If an official plays, his chances to officiate will diminish as the Intramural Office is seeking students available on a full time basis.

A uniform will be required and will consist of a shirt and pants which will cost the official four hours of pay and the Intramural department will subsidize the rest.

Special Note: All Intramural activities originally scheduled for Thursday, Mar. 18, have been rescheduled for Friday, Mar. 19, or later. This change was made in order not to conflict with the BYU-UCLA basketball game. Please check the Intramural bulletin boards for the notices on the rescheduling of the events.
